Background and Motivation: This proposal contains the promised revision from the last meeting to let the President choose any additional two members of the House to hold the moderator role. In addition, it establishes clear rules regarding expectations for communication via email going forward.

1) Moderator Announcements Channel:

- There will be a permanent Moderator announcements channel.
- Its function will be to update everyone about new server features and also about any disciplinary actions taken and the reason for them.

2) Official Officer and Suite Manager Announcements:

- Any House Officer, Suite Manager, or other House Member with information relevant to all or a significant portion of members of the House that is shared in the course of their duties must always send the announcement through the escher@icc.coop email list, regardless if they do it through the Discord.
- House Officers or Suite Managers that share important announcements via Discord but not via email, to the disadvantage of House members, shall be fined as determined by the members of the House Council.

3) Moderators chosen at the President's discretion:

- The President may choose any two individuals, in addition to those granted moderator powers through the previous proposal, to have moderator rights at any given time. The President may change who those two people are whenever and however often they want.
- This replaces and voids the previous statute that the President may choose two officers to have moderator privileges.
